Washington, Oct. 8.—Questions of procedure and whether its hearings shall be public were among those things awaiting the decision of the senate committee, headed by Senator Pomeroy, Ohio, when it met today preliminary to beginning an investigation of Senator La Follette's alleged disloyal speech at St. Paul. Since the scope of the inquiry is limited solely to the accuracy of the recorded speech and accuracy of La Follette's statements of facts therein, the committee hopes to complete its work within ten days. Senator La Follette was expected to furnish the committee with a copy of his speech today.

CELEBRATION TO MARK FIRST
LIBERTY TRUCK

Thirty-Five Thousands of the Type to Be Turned Out for Use of Army

Lima, Ohio, Oct. 8.—The first liberty motor truck for the United States army product of the greatest motor truck designers of the country, twelve motor truck plants, and 62 automobile parts factories, was completed here today at a local manufacturing plant. The standardized machine, of which 35,000 copies will be turned out in the first half of 1918 for the army, is said to represent the perfection of automobile truck development. Its motor power is derived from the new "Liberty" motor, recently perfected at Washington by war department experts.

Lima is preparing for a great patriotic demonstration when the new truck is given its first road test, probably later this week. High army officers including the quartermaster general, and possibly Secretary of War Baker are arranging to attend. Following tests at the factory, the truck will start on an endurance run to the east. The first liberty truck was developed in the greatest secrecy to protect it from enemy eyes. A building without windows and lighted only by skylights housed the truck during its three weeks' construction. The plant was closely guarded day and night by armed men.

CANADA'S GRAND OLD MAN GIVES UP LEADERSHIP

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 8.—Canada's "grand old man" is going to step down and out. After 45 years of public life Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at the age of 77, is ready to turn the reins of leadership in the liberal party over to younger hands.

There are two reasons. One is his failing health, and that in a way was caused by the other: internal warfare over the conscription policy of the government. English liberals favor conscription; Sir Wilfrid and the French liberals oppose it. A winter election campaign is near and Canada's first French premier doesn't feel physically able to get into the sub-zero weather and battle as he used to do.

His retirement means the virtual end of opposition to conscription. For a quarter of a century Sir Wilfrid was the leader of the liberal party. He carried election after election and dominated Dominion politics and policies. For 15 years, 1896-1911, he was premier, the practical ruler of Canada. Then he was acclaimed the one colonial statesman of international significance anywhere in the world. He taught the Dominion to think nationally, to look upon Canada less as a dependency than as a sister nation with other dominions forming a great empire.

He won for Canada a real treaty making power, independent of the government in London.

BENTON PACKET
MAN ON SECOND
1800-MILE TRIP

Capt. Joe Leach to Take Steamboat Gros Ventre to Mouth of Missouri

Washington, N. D., Oct. 8.—For the second time this season, Capt. Joe Leach of the Benton Packet Co., of Bismarck is on his way to the mouth of the Missouri, 1,800 miles distant, with the steamer Gros Ventre, which has been sold to St. Louis parties. Captain Leach made his first voyage, the first trip to the mouth of the river from Washburn in 30 years, in 14 days with the Washburn, heavily laden. The river was high then. Now the river is low and with the Gros Ventre going down in ballast he expects to have to add several days to his running time. The Benton Packet Co. has disposed of the two boats because of difficulty in finding crews to operate them. It still has five steamers and two barges engaged in local river commerce.

London, Oct. 8.—A dispatch from Melbourne says it is reported there that a whaleboat with a crew of Germans from the raider See Adler has been captured near the Fiji Islands. The boat contained a gun and machine guns, the dispatch says, and the Germans admitted they had been detailed from the See Adler to make raids.

The presence of two German raiders in the South Pacific was made known in dispatches from Samoa. Several merchantmen are reported to have been sunk. The See Adler was active in the South Atlantic last spring, sinking 11 merchantmen there.

SUBMARINE ESCAPES.

Madrid, Oct. 8.—A German submarine interned at Cadiz has escaped.

Several German submarines have sought refuge in Spanish ports during the war, and one of them which put in at Cadiz was escorted out of the port later by Spanish torpedo boats. King Alfonso on June 30, last, signed a decree for hiding submarines in Spanish waters or enter Spanish ports. It was declared all submarines entering the Spanish zone would be interned.

Farmer Killed and Many Passengers Endangered
As Train Hits Gas Tank

Glen Ullin, Oct. 8.—Jacob Schock, prominent young farmer of this community, was almost instantly killed, and the lives of scores of passengers were endangered at 4:30 Saturday afternoon, when Northern Pacific train No. 7 struck Schock's wagon on the crossing east of the Andrews Elevator, fatally injuring the driver and exploding a 30-gallon tank of gasoline carried in the wagon. The gasoline fumes, ignited by fire from the engine, spread to the five coaches which made up the train, which almost immediately were enveloped in a blanket of flame. Engineer James McDonald backed rapidly to the water tank, the Glen Ullin fire department was called to the scene, and the blazing coaches were extinguished, after the exterior had been badly scorched, but before any of the occupants were seriously injured.

Schock sustained a blow in the back of the head, and he lived only fifteen minutes after the accident. The young man was following another team across the track, and it occupied his attention to such an extent that he did not notice the approaching train. The wagon was square upon the tracks when No. 7 struck it. The view of the engineer had been obstructed by buildings abutting on the right of way, and he did not see the wagon until it was too late for him to stop. The train was in charge of Conductor J. Wilson and E. L. Patterson was firing.

The deceased is survived by a widow and four young children. Coroner G. C. Kenuelly is conducting an inquest this afternoon. The funeral service will be held tomorrow morning from St. Mary's church, and interment will be made in the local cemetery.

KAISER'S REPRESENTATIVE
HISSED DURING HIS SPEECH

Von Tirpitz Trying to Rally New Party About Him to Stem
Tide

(By Associated Press.) External pressure to force the German government to set forth its war aims clearly, having failed on the surface, internal conditions within the empire threatened to compel the issuance of a full statement of German aims. What the German leaders want, if they are successful, will be discussed in the reichstag this week, probably today.

Finding Way Difficult. The imperial chancellor, Dr. Michaelis, is finding the way as difficult as it was for his predecessor, Von Bethmann Holweg, and he must now face the critics of his government in the reichstag.

Whether it has been charged, the bureaucracy and the army have been furthering the Pan-German scheme of annexation and indemnities is expected to be brought out in the debate. Dr. Michaelis sent Minister of the Interior Helfferich before the reichstag Saturday to make a statement on his behalf. Helfferich failed to mollify the critical members of the reichstag and the sitting was adjourned today after the vice chancellor's speech had been interrupted. General von Seeckt, the war minister, was feared when he attempted to explain the army's side of the accusation that the high command was using strong methods to help the Pan-German agitation.

War Party Busy. Former Chancellor von Bethmann Holweg some months before his resignation, had a test of strength with Admiral von Tirpitz, the reputed organizer of ruthless submarine warfare, and the chancellor won. The admiral since has been busy and the new Fatherland party of which he is sponsor, according to recent reports, has been very active in opposing the reichstag majority declaration for peace without annexations or indemnities.

Into Two Camps. It has now come to a test between the followers of Von Tirpitz and the pan-Germans on one side, and the majority of the reichstag on the other. Recent reports have shown that the feeling between the pan-Germans and the reichstag majority has become more intense, some socialist members of the reichstag having gone so far as to charge that the agitation of the pan-Germans is dividing the German people into two camps, and the question of the aims of the war.

Approaching a peace weather on the western front is forecast in the appearance of snow in the Vosges. In Flanders the weather has been most unfavorable, the last two days, but official reports mention no let up in the violent artillery duels. The British are probably using the new positions won last week as a base from which to harass the Germans in the lowlands, preparatory for a new stroke in this plan to outflank the German positions in the north. Recent German naval forces have been sighted in the Baltic Sea off the Danish and Swedish coast, bound probably for the Gulf of Finland, for a drive on Helsinki, Finland, and Petrograd. The Germans are said to be concentrating a large force, including mine sweepers, seaplanes, and transports, and plan to attack Helsinki by land and sea.

Today's British statement indicates no let up in the Flanders battle. One definite report announced the launching of a counter attack by the Germans east of Polygon Wood.

More favorable developments in the Russian political situation are reported. Complete agreement has been reached on all questions, by the representatives of the government, the democratic congress, and the Bourgeois, it is announced, and the immediate formations of a coalition cabinet is planned.

Give The Stomach
A Chance To Work

We can't expect the stomach to act normally if the natural avenues of digestion are blocked. When the bowels are constipated the stomach is called upon to work beyond its capacity and the result is bloating, headache, and discomfort generally, and, unless the condition is promptly relieved, serious illness.

An effective remedy for constipation is said to drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of simple, healthy, and gentle, natural materials, without griping or other painful or disagreeable effects. Get a bottle of the Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drug store and have it in the house when you need it; it costs only fifty cents and is the ideal family remedy, mild enough for children and old people, yet sufficiently powerful for the strongest constitution. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. Caldwell, 426 Washington St., Mount Carlo, Illinois.

Thierichens, a former commander of the interned German sea raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, of violation of the Mann white slave act. Captain Thierichens was charged with taking Miss Funk from Ithaca to Philadelphia for improper purposes.

CHRIST, THE CARPENTER, SYMBOL OF DIGNITY OF LABOR, SAYS BUZZELLE

All That Is Good Is Obtained by Work," Asserts Bismarck Clergyman

Christ, the divine carpenter, as a symbol of the dignity of labor, was made the central theme of an inspirational sermon which Rev. George Buzzelle, rector of St. George's, delivered to a large congregation in the second of his popular Sunday evening services at the Grand theatre Sunday evening.

O'Connor's orchestra played several selections, and Miss Elizabeth Bayless sang Harker's, "Just for Today." Rev. Buzzelle preached from the text: "Is not this the Carpenter's son?"—Matt. xiii, 55.

"Most of our religious difficulties are of our own making. Instead of accepting God as he revealed himself unto us, we first set up a being of our own imagination, and when the God of our fathers is seen to be a different being, we are offended at him, and lose all interest in him. The Jew had looked for a Messiah. All Jewish history was full of the longing of this people for him. Their scriptures were the progressive record of prophecy concerning him. Yet when he came, and came in the only way in which the love of God could be fully manifested to man, they cast him out and crucified him. They wanted some marvel, some miracle, wonder. Like the Syrian who would not accept the healing of his leprosy without the man of God came forth and in a dramatic manner causing the cure, the people of Israel rejected the eternal salvation brought to them because it came in the guise of humanity. It is not this the carpenter's son? Had they not known him for years? Was his mother's name not Mary? And they were offended at him.

"In essentials the world has changed but little. Christ the blessed one has been with his people for many centuries, and the very thing that should make him precious in our eyes is the thing which causes many to pass him by, nay, even to be offended at him. Had God come as a mighty potentate, whose fiery countenance would wither and destroy, then indeed men would bow and cringe before him, but not so does the eternal reveal himself to man.

"All that is good is obtained by work. The student gains knowledge by work, and a headache is worse any day than a headache. The scientist works. Mr. Edison is said to spend many extra hours each day in his laboratory. And the increase in the world's store of riches and power comes from daily toil. So Christ is to be found in the workshop, and there we will find him, sweetening, beautifying, glorifying the drudgery of the daily task. Is not this the carpenter? Yes, thank God, it is the carpenter. God incarnate in human flesh, touched with our infirmities, filled with sympathy for our needs."

MARKETING COSTS FOUND TOO LARGE

Uncle Sam's Experts Seek to Eliminate Losses in Handling Farm Products.

TERMINALS TOO NUMEROUS

Investigators Propose Remedies for Evils Which Directly Affect the Prices Received by the Farmers.

The farmer has a direct interest in the efficiency of the marketing organization in cities, according to officials of Uncle Sam's department of agriculture, since lack of efficiency may be reflected in the poor prices he receives for his products.

Sooner or later, it is argued, the great majority of the perishable products raised on the farm for sale finds its way to the cities for distribution, and whether it passes from the ownership of the farmer before or after reaching such centers, the sales are usually based on city quoted prices.

Many farm products, especially perishables, are consigned to city commission merchants to be sold for what they will bring, the prices received in such cases being directly dependent on their city market value. Prices based on these values are paid also when such products are sold by the producer directly to wholesalers or jobbers after shipment to city trading centers. Even the products which the farmer sells at the nearest railroad station are bought largely for consumption in cities and so are paid for, in most cases, at prices which are dependent on those prevailing in city markets.

Study Distribution System. The office of markets and rural organization of the department has taken up as one of its important studies city marketing and distribution. Through this project the aim of the office has been to study marketing conditions in various cities; to determine as accurately as possible the sources of loss and waste in city marketing and the methods by which such losses and wastes may be eliminated; to develop general plans for efficient marketing facilities of various kinds for cities, and to aid by specific suggestions such cities as may seek assistance in improving their marketing conditions.

The general fault, it has been found, is the existence of numerous terminals separated from each other and from the whole-sale district. In some cases it was found that there are as many as a score of separate terminals existing in a city. Shipments for a given dealer may arrive at a number of these terminals on the same day, necessitating much more costly carriage of the

RISHMEN IN COMMON BOND

Writer Sees Peculiar Opportunity for Commonwealth in That Country, for Many Reasons.

Ireland is, perhaps, the only country in Europe in which a co-operative commonwealth has a notable chance of being realized. Few great industrial interests have been established there. The bulk of the people are small farmers whose economic status makes co-operative combinations more and more a necessity. The people have always worked well in combination from the time of the Celtic clans who so ably and for so long resisted a great military aggression to our own time when their combinations for boycott destroyed a feudal system that had the might of an empire behind it.

Such a commonwealth, democratic for production, aristocratic in leadership would move more and more toward a brotherhood. The literary movement of today may be a prophecy or perhaps a preparation for that brotherhood. The theme of the new Irish poetry, as I have said, is a spiritual democracy.

The ideal of the co-operative commonwealth is apt to gain the allegiance of every vital force in the country. To those who would have Ireland an independent state it shows the way to economic independence; to those who would have Ireland a resurgent Gaelic nationality it shows the way of return to a Gaelic form of social organization; to those who react from the dreadful economic conditions in many parts of the country it shows the way to economic betterment—Padraic Colum, in the Seven Arts.

BIG INCREASE IN NEW GOLD

Uncle Sam Adds $98,831,000 Worth of Yellow Metal to His Total Wealth in One Year.

Uncle Sam added new gold to his total wealth during 1915 to the amount of $98,831,000, which is almost a record, and a gain of $4,805,300 over 1914. If we add to this the gold ore mined, but not smelted yet, the total passes $100,000,000—every penny of it new wealth.

Says the joint report of geological survey and the bureau of the mint: "An increase in the yield of gold is indicated by the mine returns from every important gold-mining state, and a decrease is reported from Washington, while the output of Idaho remains the same."

The preliminary estimates indicate an output of 67,485,000 fine ounces of silver, valued at $34,417,636. Although next to the record output of 1914 in quantity, the value, based on the low average price of 51 cents per fine ounce for 1915—the lowest in the history of the industry—was considerably below the values for 1914 and many previous years, when production was smaller but prices ruled higher.

"Increases in the mine production of silver were especially notable in Montana, Utah and Arizona, and were considerable in Idaho, Alaska, New Mexico and Texas; but large decreases were reported from Colorado and from Nevada following similar decreases in 1914."

PROTECTS EYES OF SOLDIERS

Chain Visor Attached to Helmet Is New Device Used by British Troops in Trenches.

A new chain visor helmet attachment to protect the soldiers' eyes is being tried by the British in France. The visor is the invention of Capt. R. R. Cruise, an ophthalmic surgeon with General Haig's forces. Around the front of the regular steel helmet Doctor Cruise has placed a slender rod to which is attached a strip of steel chain mail, about three inches deep. This slides on the rod as easily as a curtain, and it can be drawn, like a veil, fairly close by an ingenious contrivance and fastening. The eyes of the wearer are thus protected against any flying fragment of shell, or what is almost equally dangerous—any stone or piece of earth thrown up by the explosion of a shell. The steel mail obscures the vision to a certain extent, but not to such a degree that the soldier is unable to use his rifle. But if he wishes greater clearness of sight half the mail can be looped back and one eye will still be protected.

Rifle Range Industry Brisk.

The rifle range industry has taken on a wonderful impetus all over New York. Not only the men in uniform, but citizens of all ages and even women are priming their weather eye for emergency service against the Kaiser. The little street ranges, with their equipment of stationary clay pipes, moving clay ducks and silver home-balanced on water spouts, have mushroomed their way into all the thoroughfares in which people promenade in the evenings, and every unoccupied store and booth has been converted into a spot for the testing of one's prowess with the rifle. Civilians are in a majority among those who nightly try their skill at these ranges, but very frequently a group of men in uniform will saunter up to have a little competition among themselves. The civilian marksmen on these occasions usually retire for the time being.

SECOND LIBERTY LOAN.

The United States government has begun its energetic campaign to float the second of the liberty loans necessary to make this country effective in the world war. The specific goal is three billion dollars, but it is hoped the subscriptions will far exceed this, and that the subscribers will total one-tenth the population.

The loan should appeal to every man, woman and—yes, to every child in the land. It is not enough to say that one has subscribed to the first loan. The loyal American should subscribe for every loan. If possible. And in many cases it will be possible, by dint of economy.

The second liberty loan has got to be a success. Every liberty loan has got to be a success. If the nation can't float its loans, the money will have to be secured in other and more drastic ways, and this would unsettle the entire economic, financial and industrial fabric of the country.

But there is something else, too, quite as important: A failure on the part of this fabulously rich country to oversubscribe each of its war loans would be worse than a dozen failures in a dozen gigantic offensives in France or Flanders. It would be a sign to Germany that all her offenses had failed to arouse resentment.

The Germans would say, and rightfully, that the Americans condoned the Lusitania assassinations; that we cared nothing about attacks upon ships flying the American flag; that we were indifferent about the proved German plots to blow up our factories. More—they would say, with every sign of truth, that the people were not supporting their government; that the people were pro-peace and even pro-German.

The failure, or near-failure, of any of our liberty loans would do more than a dozen victories to ginger up the waning morale of the German armies and people.

To the soldiers in the trenches, weary of the war and hopeless of success against the allies, the message would go forth: "Hold out yet a little longer. The Americans are not coming into this war with their full power."

To the people back home, cold and hungry and praying for peace, the kaiserists would say: "Endure yet a little while and crushing victory will be ours. The Americans are not coming."

No American with red blood, no American who believes in democracy and freedom, can afford to let any such message go back to Germany. We are sending our best boys to France. It is up to us to stand back of them with all we have of money and supplies. They are there to see the war through to the end. It is our part to see them through to the end. If we don't, we are betraying them.

The American people have never been quitters. It is unbelievable that they will be now. On the contrary, there is every reason to believe they will make of this second liberty loan a tremendous success.

It can only be such a success if every man, woman and child makes it his or her personal business to help. It can only be such a success if the loan is very largely oversubscribed, and if those proffering their money include a huge number of people of modest means.

Such a loan would lead to the German rulers in unmistakable tones the news that the American people en masse were backing their government with blood and gold to remove forever the terrible menace of Prussian crime.

When you loan money to Uncle Sam you never need be afraid he'll move without leaving his new address.

WHERE THE COW COMES IN.

The food administrators at Washington issue a strong appeal for general conservation of dairy products. The people ought to respond, both for country's sake and pocketbook's sake, but the housewife cannot do it all; government must do its part, especially as government is now authorized to do about whatever it pleases, in the matter of food control, and when we look at the increases in exportation of dairy products, it becomes evident that government must take prompt and strong measures, if there's to be any hope of relief from the scarcity and high prices.

Before the war we were sending practically no dairy products to Europe. Even under this condition, scarcity was some justification for high prices. The demand was always a little ahead of the supply, and we even imported considerable dairy products.

During the year past we have exported to the neutral countries of Europe alone, over 15 million pounds of condensed milk, about 200,000 pounds of cheese and 1,200 per cent more of butter than ever before. It is worthy of special note that Holland, a dairy country, took about 85 per cent of the milk—and probably sent it on to Germany.

It is well known that the herds of Great Britain, France and Germany are being sacrificed to war needs. Holland has gone to slaughtering because of feed shortage. And American producers are slaughtering because of high prices for meats. Since the war began the world's stock of cattle has decreased by over 23 million head. Evidently this cannot go on without putting humanity up against a dairy products famine.

It is our duty to help to feed our allies and even the neutrals, when we can safely do so. We can eat more corn and whole-wheat bread. We can get along very well indeed on less meat, but human ingenuity has not yet perfected rainwater as a substitute for cow's milk, and national self-preservation comes first.

Since the war opened the milk condensers have raised their wholesale prices to the American trade 65 to 80 per cent. Why not? Their foreign market has jumped from 17 million pounds before the war to 259 millions in 1917. It is cold blooded war profiteering, at the expense of American consumers.

The American housewife can help by conserving, but how foolish it looks in the government to permit the slaughter of brood cattle and the unlimited exportation of our dairy products to parties who pass them on to our enemies!

Before our food administrators try to remove the note that's in the housewife's eye, let them remove the bean that's in their own eye!

Argentina's getting wise. Promised fair treatment by Germany, she goes to mobilizing her army and navy.

The democratic congress must clean itself of the traitors, or the people will clean congress of democrats.

Skirts are to be short, with bustles at the back, says Fashion. Thank heaven! the back is still some place between the neck and the knees!

Champagne up $5 per case and beer down to 2 per cent alcohol. You can almost hear Ganyemede as he trips about Olympus with a tray of hard cider.

For years the mustache used to be the distinguishing badge of the British cavalry. In this war it's the distinguishing badge of about 47 different kinds of germs.

North Dakota papers are commenting interestingly, but mostly adversely, upon the fact that Governor Frazier of that state was a leading figure at the La Follette meeting at St. Paul, and made no protest against the senator's disloyal speech.—Aberdeen News.

FRENCH SOLDIERS REJOICE OVER U. S. AID

The Sammies are coming! The soldiers in this French camp had just heard latest reports of the number of United States soldiers about ready to leave their training camps behind the lines for the firing line. The photograph caught two of them doing a French version of the Highland Fling in celebration of the arrival of this aid in crushing the Boches.

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF PATRIOTS

"America is privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles that gave her birth and happiness, and the peace she has treasured." —PRESIDENT WILSON.

"Not the amount realized by the sale of bonds, but by the number of subscribers to the loan, by the number of Americans who lend their money to their government is the Americanism of the people of the United States to be demonstrated." —CARTER GLASS, chairman, House Committee on Banking and Currency.

"The United States has entered upon the great world conflict, which is to decide whether democracy shall have a safe place in the sun on the earth, or not. There is hardly any duty higher than that which ought to actuate each citizen to help furnish a part of the money which will be necessary for that purpose." —JOHN SHARP WILLIAMS, United States senator from Mississippi.

"In protecting the credit of the United States government you are protecting your own credit, you are protecting your own business, you are protecting every interest you have in life and property. In doing that you are rendering a patriotic service in supplying the sinews of war to your country." —W. G. MCGO, Secretary of the Treasury.

"There is no surer bond between a man and his country than that he shall be a bondholder of his country. Let us see that this liberty bond issue is a bond of the democracy." —THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"So much do common sense and sound business judgment commend the Liberty Loan bonds as a safe and remunerative investment that I can see no necessity for urging patriotism as a reason for buying such bonds, although I recognize the patriotic nature of the investment." —THOMAS R. MARSHALL, vice president.

BUY A BOND

BY BERTON BRALEY

If you hate oppression and lust and shame
 If you hate the fiend with his eyes aflame,
 If you burn with wrath at the word and deed
 Of a crew of pirates whose only creed
 Is the law of might and the rule of force
 And death to all who oppose their course;
 If an anger terrible sears your brain
 At children murdered and women slain,
 At crimsoned seas and at blackened sod
 All done in the name of a Russian God;
 If you hate these things and you cannot go
 To fight the cruel and ruthless foe
 You CAN be loyal, you CAN respond
 You CAN come forward and "BUY A BOND!"

If you love your country, your home, your flag,
 If you would not witness that banner drag
 In the dust of failure; if still you care
 For what is lovely and true and fair;
 If freedom isn't an empty word
 But a thing you love; if your heart is stirred
 By thought of a world made safe and free
 For the sake of common humanity;
 If these things seem worth while to you,
 This is the service that you can do,
 Though you many not battle "across the pond,"
 You CAN save money and "BUY A BOND!"

DURABLE DRESS FOR BUSINESS GIRLS

And now Paris makes room for the business girl's costume in all of her style shows. For French offices are filled with girl clerks, bookkeepers and stenographers, who have taken the places of the young men gone to war.

A blouse which will wash, and a skirt which will stand hard wear and rough weather are the essentials of sensible attire for office women. Both of these details are taken care of in the new dress.

Call It a "Wrap"

Direct from Paris for the pleasure of women readers of The Tribune came the photograph of the stunning wrap pictured today. Evidently turning one's back on the world is sometimes done to the world's advantage, when such a smart coat as this above reveals its beauty.

This odd garment, which is neither cape nor coat, is of brilliant Chinese silk and is edged with a wide band of fur. It suggests the continued popularity of brocades, embroideries, and all varieties of rich textiles.

every side. This is the gist of a letter received the other day in New York, the accuracy of which is vouched for by the Zionist committee. The letter says:

"Death from starvation is a real fact; it is witnessed all over here, in every street, at every step, in every house. Jewish mothers—mothers of mercy—feel happy to see their nursing babies die, for at least the infants are through with suffering. Our wealthiest people cut off their daughters' hair, to be able to buy the indispensable things, like bread, for their dying children. Four and five-year-old children must be carried in the arms like babies. Should America not aid us, we will be lost. Fathers, should they return from the battlefield, will meet, of their five or six children who kissed them good-by when they left, only one or two."

Tunnels of the Ancients. Although tunneling is among the most ancient of enterprises, more progress has been made in it the last century than in the twenty centuries which preceded it. It is now known that back in the semi-mythical days of the Theban kings the long tunnel into the mountain rock, expanding at a distance of 400 feet or so, into some lofty chamber, was a common work. The rock temples of Nubia and India, too, show that in certain matters at any rate moderns may still learn from the ancients.

Unkind Comment. The death recently took place in Ireland of a well-known singer who had a massive physique. This was rather a drawback in the case of certain sentimental songs which were hardly applicable to his girth. One night, when in Dublin, he gave as an encore, the well-known Irish song, "I'm sitting by the stile, Mary, where we sat side by side." An irreverent person in the gallery exclaimed: "Ah, surely, there wouldn't be room for the two of yez now."

Little Things That Count. The sunshine of life is made up of very little beams that are bright all the time. To give up something, when giving up will prevent unhappiness; to yield, when persisting will cause and fret others; to go a little round rather than come against another; to take an ill look or a cross word quietly, rather than resent or return it—these are the ways in which clouds and storms are kept off and a pleasant and steady sunshine secured.

Towel and Medicine Closet. A good idea for a towel and medicine closet or cabinet in two bathrooms which have a common wall is to divide the one closet space into thirds laterally. The upper third forms the two shallow medicine closets, back to back, with a mirrored door in each bathroom. The other two-thirds extend through the depth of the closet and are used for towels. Each of these divisions opens into one of the bathrooms.

Starvation Wiping Out Warsaw. Warsaw under German rule is being returned Saturday from a short visit with friends in Underwood. Senator W. C. McGray, son Archibald, Judge A. A. Bruce and son, Robert, motored to Underwood Sunday, where Judge Bruce delivered an address at the patriotic rally held there.

ANCIENT LEGEND MADE GOOD

Russian Women Fighting With the Desperation Said to Have Annihilated Amazon Warriors.

Legend tells of an ancient nation of female warriors, the Amazons, who were said to have lived in Pontus, near the shore of the Euxine sea, where they maintained an independent government under the rule of a queen. These hardy women, so runs the tale, carried war into many neighboring countries, including Scythia and Thrace, and to the coasts of Asia Minor, even penetrating to Arabia and Egypt. They were seldom made to swallow the bitter potion of defeat.

Now, according to the war cables from Petrograd, women are again taking their place in battle. The "Death Battalion" in the Russian army on the eastern front, reports say, is full in the fight and is acquiring itself heroically. We read such lines as "Ensign Mile. Vera Butchkareff has been sent to hospital suffering from shell shock" and "the 'Death Battalion' rushed forward, firing their rifles with deadly effect."

It is a strange situation in Russia which finds women standing fast under fire, and thousands of men turning their backs to the foe and delivering over their own soil. If these traitors are capable of shame, the spectacle of women fighting their battles for them must sink deep into their souls.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

UNEXPLORED LAND IN CANADA

Vast Areas, Both in Ontario and Quebec, Where Surveying Parties Have Never Been.

A very common impression held even by Canadians is that there is little Canadian territory left to explore except on the Arctic islands. But as far back as 1890 Dr. George Dawson had calculated that there were then about 1,000,000 square miles of unexplored territory in western Canada, the rest lying in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Charles Cammell of the geological survey of Canada has quite recently revised Doctor Dawson's estimate, reaching for western Canada the figures of about 642,000 square miles, while the unexplored area of northern Quebec is represented by 250,000 square miles.

The total area of Canada is reckoned at 3,729,935 square miles, of which 520,800 square miles are embraced in the islands of the Arctic ocean. The unexplored area (Cammell figures) of 901,000 square miles represents almost 28 per cent of the total area of the country.

MORE GOOD THINGS FOR THE FAMILY TABLE.

Bananas in various ways make most wholesome food and a pleasing variety.

Bananas With Jelly.—Loosen a section of the skin from a dozen bananas and arrange them in a baking pan. Bake until the pulp is soft and the skins discolored. Remove the bananas from their skins and roll in macaroon crumbs. Dissolve half a glass of currant jelly in cold water (three-fourths of a cupful) with a tablespoonful of cornstarch, stir and cook over the fire, add a teaspoonful of lemon juice, a tablespoonful of butter. Serve hot with the bananas. This is a most delicious dessert for children.

Bran Muffins.—Beat together a cupful of sugar, add a tablespoonful of shortening and an egg well beaten. Put two cupfuls of sour milk into a bowl, then add one and one-half teaspoonfuls of soda, dissolved in a half-cupful of cold water, a teaspoonful and a half of salt and two cupfuls each of bran and flour. Mix well and bake in hot buttered gem pans for 30 minutes.

Potato Soup.—Peel and quarter six good-sized potatoes, add a fourth of a pound of salt pork, two onions sliced and a sprig or two of parsley. Cover with water and cook gently for an hour. Remove the pork and rub the vegetables through a sieve. Return to the kettle, add two cupfuls of milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, salt and pepper to taste. Boil up once and serve hot.

Fig Tartlets.—Line small patty tins with pastry. Cut a half a pound of figs into small pieces and simmer them gently in a cupful and a half of water, add three tablespoonfuls of sugar and then one of lemon juice. Cool and add two beaten egg yolks, a half-cupful of chopped nut meats and a little salt. Fill the pastry pans and bake in a hot oven. Cover with a meringue made from the whites of the eggs and a little sugar. Brown and serve hot or cold.

If citron is steamed before it is sliced it will be found to cut much easier.

Nellie Maxwell

Stricken on Train.—While enroute east on train No. 2 of the Northern Pacific Saturday evening, Joseph Boll nor, aged 22, of Strasburg, was stricken with a nasal hemorrhage. He was removed from the train at Bismarck and taken to the Bismarck hospital, where he died without gaining consciousness.

His parents at Strasburg were notified and the body will be taken to his former home where funeral services will be conducted and interment made.

YOUNG MANDAN MAN

ANSWERS LAST SUMMONS

Word was received in Mandan Sunday by Postmaster John Foran that his son, Robert Foran, known to his hundreds of Mandan friends as Bob, had died Saturday evening in a hospital at Great Falls, Mont., from pneumonia.

Young Foran was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Foran and was about 30 years old. He had been employed up until the time of his death by the Helena Construction company, Mr. Foran left Sunday evening for Great Falls and will bring the body to Mandan for funeral services and interment. The body is expected to arrive in Mandan Wednesday evening on No. 2. Funeral services will be held in St. Joseph's R. C. church either Thursday or Friday morning. Mrs. C. C. McLean of Mandan is a sister of the deceased.

Real Happiness.

If this world affords true happiness, it is to be found in a home where love and confidence increase with years, where the necessities of life come without severe strain, where luxuries enter only after their cost has been carefully considered. We are told that wealth is a test of character—few of us have to submit to it. Poverty is the more usual test. It is difficult to be very poor and maintain one's self-respect.—A. Edward Newton in the Atlantic.

Law Inoperative.—Pleading guilty to a charge of operating a demonstrator car with but one dealer's license tag showing, P. O. Helstrom of the Western Sales Co. yesterday asked Police Magistrate Blackred what he was going to do about it. "Looking in to the 1917 statutes, Judge Blackred discovered that while dealers are required to display two tags on demonstrator cars, no penalty is attached for failure to do so. Mr. Helstrom was not fined.

All of the Woods are on the league payroll, Edwin Wood being engaged as a lecturer, Howard Wood as state manager, and their father as one of the five directors who control the destinies of the organization in this state. MOTHER'S CHOICE

Because—It uses so little fuel.

—It bakes so quickly and easily.
—It saves the cost of an extra heating stove.

Cole's High Oven Range

(Patented)

It saves the expense of an extra heating stove. This remarkable range will comfortably heat an extra room beside the kitchen and cook the family meals, too. In fall and spring it takes the chill off the whole house and saves several months' fuel bills of an extravagant heating plant. A warm kitchen in the morning—no more frozen pipes—cooks breakfast on the little fuel put in the night before. It's Mother's Choice because it will cut your cost of living—see it today.

Fine Chance for Axel.

Being firm friends, Marie's two lovers decided that one must end his courtship to help the other. When Axel suggested "head or tails" no coin was at hand. He agreed to the use of Sandy's pocket knife, but was ill prepared for his friend's words as the knife shot upward: "If the knife stays up you win!"

Voice of Envy.

"Did I understand you to say that Mr. Grabcorn has more money than he knows what to do with?" "No. That is merely the point of view held by some of Mr. Grabcorn's neighbors who think they could enjoy life a great deal more than he does, if they only had his money."—New Haven Journal.

The Work Cure.

There is no remedy for trouble equal to hard work—labor that will tire you physically to such an extent that you must sleep. If you have met with losses you do not want to lie awake and think about them. You want sleep, and to eat your meals with an appetite; but you cannot, unless you work.

Interrupted Solemnity.

Buddy, aged three, was flower carrier at his aunt's wedding. When all was very quiet and the minister was reading the marriage ceremony, Buddy called out in a loud, clear voice, "Mamma, is he reading a story about the bears?"

Famous Cherokee Halfbreed.

Sequoyah, inventor of the Cherokee alphabet, was one of the great men of the Indian race. He was a halfbreed whose English name was George Guess. His father was a white man and his mother a full-blood Indian woman.

Practice Economy.

The same standard, "Eat enough food and no more," rigidly followed, would reduce greatly food bills in many homes and at the same time tend to improve the physical condition of all members of the household.

CASS WEALTHIEST OF FLICKERTAIL COUNTIES

North Dakota this year will collect $16,449,226 in real estate taxes on an actual valuation of $912,832,813, assessed at $34,754,201, according to a table just prepared by Chairman F. E. Packard of the state tax commission, showing the actual value of acre property in the various counties, arrived at by assuming that the tax in North Dakota is one percent of the capital value of property.

Cass is shown to be the richest county in the state, with a land valuation of $45,578,085. Grand Forks second, with $40,542,273; Ward third, with $35,918,741; and Stutsman fourth with $25,193,974. Morton county's acreage is valued at $24,847,479, and Barnes at $23,135,030. Cass is the only county in the state whose land taxes exceed a million. It pays this year $1,162,805. Grand Forks county pays $928,781.

Sioux county is the least wealthy in North Dakota, its land valuation being shown as $1,423,315, and its 1916 taxes as $37,512. Some of the more important counties have land values as follows: Benson, $19,213,307; Bottineau, $26,060,027; Burke, $12,549,639; Burleigh, $21,621,321; Cavalier, $24,829,151; Dickey, $17,920,120; Dunn, $13,300,629; Divide, $17,801,026; Emmons, $20,342,232; LaMoure, $19,373,549; McHenry, $22,354,228; McKenzie, $12,180,937; McLean, $19,442,513; Mountrail, $15,748,626; Nelson, $19,442,513; Pembina, $19,896,849; Ramsey, $22,355,829; Ransom, $18,159,257; Renville, $14,925,877; Richland, $27,022,444; Towner, $16,046,668; Traill, $18,921,152; Walsh, $23,878,941; Wells, $20,353,311; Williams, $25,704,304.

The average tax rate for 1916 is 47.293 mills and the average actual value per acre for North Dakota is $23.06. The average tax per acre is 42.12 cents in Cass county; 44.90 cents in Grand Forks; 33.68 in Ransom, and 31.67 cents in Traill. The average for the entire state is 41.76 cents per acre, and the average assessed valuation per acre is $4.08.

BISMARCK HIGH LOOKS FORWARD TO OPENING OF FOOTBALL SEASON

First Game to Be Played on Local Field Week From Saturday With Mandan

The Bismarck high will open its football schedule one week from next Saturday in a game with the Mandan high on the latter's gridiron. Athletic Director Bolt has had two squads working for the last month, and he believes he has an abundance of material for a winning eleven.

Thursday, Nov. 1, while the North Dakota Educational association is in session here, the Mandan high and Bismarck will meet on the capitol field, which has been lined off and makes an excellent gridiron. Efforts are being made to arrange games with the industrial training school team at Mandan, with Dickinson and other Slope teams, and an interesting season is looked forward to.

You will be interested to know that a new device for burning kerosene oil has been patented and perfected. It can be installed in any type of furnace, hot water or steam heating plants, cook stoves, producing sufficient heat to keep any hotel, apartment house or residence as warm as required in the coldest weather.

The burners are simple to operate and are perfectly safe; there are a great many of them in use in different states.

They can be seen operating in different types of stoves and heating plants at 726 Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis. You are invited to call and see demonstration. Your coal worries will be ended as soon as you start using the Regal Burner.

BOSS FOUGHT BOSS FOR PHILADELPHIA'S BLOODY FIFTH WARD

E. H. VARE

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 8.—The Vare Brothers are the most important cogs in the Republican machine now controlling Philadelphia. At one time, when they started out, they trained with the Penrose faction. Now they are in control of the anti-Penrose gang, and have a firm grip on the municipal legislative body.

State Senator Edwin H. Vare, named the other day as the man "higher up" in the importing of gunmen, is the real leader. His brother, Congressman William S. Vare, who was named as the man who would take care of the financial end of the transaction, is Boss Ed's first lieutenant. City contracts have made millionaires of both brothers.

Mayor Thomas B. Smith, arrested on a charge of "conspiring to control political movements and in execution of said conspiracy to commit assault and battery and murder," is a Vare man.

The hearings and arrests are results of the battle for political control of the "Bloody Fifth" ward in which the Penrose-McNichol faction defeated the Vares, electing James A. Carey to the select council over the Vare candidate, Isaac Deutsch. It was in speaking of this ward that Mayor Smith remarked "Varens will be trump." Scores of men and women were beaten up, one man killed and several sent to the hospitals. It is now alleged that hired gunmen were imported from New York to aid the Vares in the bloody fifth.

Williams, who also presided at the birth, and other pioneers, have been invited to deliver addresses, and it is planned to make the event an occasion for a big get-together session of all McLean county old timers.
